What Is Cash Flow and Why Is It Important?

Before diving into specific questions and answers, it's essential to understand what cash flow actually is.

Cash flow refers to the movement of money into and out of a business. It accounts for all cash transactions, including sales revenue, expenses, investments, and financing activities. Cash flow is typically categorized into three types:

- Operating cash flow: Cash generated from core business operations.

- Investing cash flow: Cash used for or generated from buying or selling assets like equipment or investments.

Why is cash flow important?

- Decision-making tool: Guides investment, financing, and operational decisions.
- Avoiding insolvency: Negative cash flow over time can lead to business failure.

Common Cash Flow Questions and Their Answers

- What are the main differences between cash flow and profit?

Answer:

While both relate to financial performance, cash flow and profit are distinct concepts:

- Profit (or net income) is calculated based on accrual accounting, recognizing revenues when earned and expenses when incurred, regardless of when cash is received or paid.
- Cash flow reflects actual cash transactions, providing a real-time picture of liquidity.

Key differences:

- Profit can be positive even if cash flow is negative, especially if sales are made on credit.
- Cash flow can be positive even if a company reports a net loss, such as when it sells assets or receives financing.

Example: A company might record a profit of $50,000 but have a negative cash flow of $20,000 due to delayed customer payments or large capital expenditures.

- How do you prepare a cash flow statement?

Answer:

A cash flow statement summarizes the cash inflows and outflows classified into three sections: operating, investing, and financing activities.

Steps to prepare:

- Start with net income: Obtain from the income statement.
- Adjust for non-cash items: Add back depreciation, amortization, or other non-cash expenses.
- Account for changes in working capital: Adjust for changes in accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable, etc.
- List cash flows from investing activities: Include purchases or sales of assets.
- List cash flows from financing activities: Document debt issuance, repayment, share issuance, or dividends paid.
- Calculate net increase/decrease in cash: Sum all sections to determine overall change.
- Reconcile with the opening and closing cash balances.

Tip: Many accounting software packages can generate cash flow statements automatically.

- What is free cash flow, and why is it significant?

Answer:

Free cash flow (FCF) is the cash a company generates after accounting for capital expenditures needed to maintain or expand its asset base.

Formula:

Free Cash Flow = Operating Cash Flow - Capital Expenditures

Importance:

- Indicates the company's ability to generate cash that can be used for dividends, debt repayment, or reinvestment.
- A positive FCF suggests healthy cash generation capacity.
- Investors often scrutinize FCF to assess valuation and financial stability.

Example: If a company reports operating cash flow of $1 million and spends $200,000 on capital investments, its free cash flow is $800,000.
